

MENDING THE CHASM

BUILDING INCLUSIVE CULTURES FROM THE INSIDE OUT.

Bio – Leena Sharma Seth

Leena Sharma Seth (She/Her) is a racialized settler, a daughter of Punjabi, East Indian immigrants, and Founder of Mending the Chasm.

Leena brings deep experience in holding space as a facilitator, consultant, coach, trainer, and speaker.

With over twenty years of experience in various leadership roles, in Canada and in Asia, Leena has worked in non-profit, consulting, education, philanthropy and supplier diversity spaces.

Leena has a Masters in Conflict Analysis & Management from Royal Roads, achieved her Canadian Certified Inclusion Professional (CCIP) designation with the Canadian Centre for Diversity & Inclusion, is trained as a Circle Way facilitator, and recently completed the Pride at Work LGBTQ2+ Workplace Inclusion Certificate.

A lifelong volunteer, some of her community commitments include:

- 10+ years as a Community Mediator with Community Conflict Resolution Services of Halton
- Member, Burlington Inclusivity Advisory Committee
- Family-to-Family Education Facilitator, Schizophrenia Society of Ontario

Leena's work in community-building has been recognized by the 2021 Mayor's Community Service Award through the Burlington Chamber of Commerce, Karina Gould's Sesquicentennial Citizenship Award, as well as the Women's Centre of Halton - 150 Years of Exemplary Women Award. Leena has served as a Community Mediator for more than a decade with Community Conflict Resolution Services of Halton.

Leena is proud to call Burlington home and is raising two social justice warriors with her husband. Leena is a fan of road trips, cinnamon buns and 80's Bollywood music.

Learn more at www.mendingthechasm.ca

Follow Leena and Mending the Chasm on: LinkedIn | Twitter | Instagram